Cloud-Based Home Health Software

Because your office is
WHEREVER YOU ARE.

Young face. Old soul.

The Genesys cloud-based software may be new, but its roots can be traced back to 1981 – that's Paleolithic era in the computer world. Call us today, and let's talk about starting something new. 800.989.7290

First, we start with the basics.

Every good home health software application provides you with the minimum of things you need to get things done.

- ▶ OASIS
- ▶ Clinical/485
- ▶ Billing
- ▶ Scheduling

Then we pile on the features.

Genesys takes it a few steps further and bundles in some cool features to speed up your work process.

- ▶ Verify Eligibility: With one easy click
- ▶ Broadcast Messaging: Send a message to one individual or your entire staff
- ▶ Customized Security Levels: To keep you in control of who sees what in your database
- ▶ Reports that Mean Something: You can even order customized reports for more specialized purposes
- ▶ Freedom of Mobility & Platform: Work from your laptop, tablet, or phone – Windows, iOS, & Android

And then we give you even more.

As if Genesys wasn't already packed with features, we decided to give you even more added value.

- ▶ Physician Portal: To help your doctors sign verbal orders and review treatment plans at their convenience
- ▶ Drug Database: Complete with instructional leaflets & more
- ▶ Clinical Pathways: Improve the quality of your patient care
- ▶ OASIS Analyzer: Enforce consistency of your responses
- ▶ Geolocation: Track your nurses when they're out in the field
- ▶ Electronic Remittance Posting

A Message from the Creator of Genesys

RedSpark Technologies Founder & CEO Florence Nicol

In 1981, when I first began as an IT Director in the software and technology industry, mainframe computers were like dinosaurs, occupying entire warehouses and requiring teams of people to work with them. Now, our mobile phones have more computing ability than any of their larger predecessors. I witnessed the evolution of software for HMO, medical billing, drug and pharmacology, and behavioural health, and I understood intimately the frustrations that users experienced with these often difficult-to-use systems. I also saw the good things – things that made a software product a joy to work with – and I learned from them.

So in 1996 I put together a small team, and we created a home health software product called Genie. At the time, it was the first true Windows-based software solution in the home health industry, and it's been going strong to this day with many happy users.

With the advent of cloud-computing, we're proud to bring you our newest creation: Genesys, a cloud-based home health software that you can access from virtually anywhere. We've infused Genesys with several decades of experience in computing and software, and I'm pleased to have a fantastic team of programmers and coders, as well as the friendliest software support staff in the industry.

On behalf of everyone here at RedSpark Technologies, thank you for learning more about us, and we wish you great success.

Kindest regards,
Florence Nicol
